In other news, today I puked in front of my classmate on Clinical break. Which is great, cause the whole class thinks I am a weirdo as it is. maybe it's deserved..

Why cant I hold all these lions.

Also, I want you all to take a good look at this Image. its a painting I found at the museum. Airplanes through the beginning= if you look closely.. the planes that were used in wars.. the background is dotted in red like blood. If anyone can find this poster for sale I would be very grateful.

That's a great piece of art you photographed – I'm guessing it's a custom piece for the museum cause I can't find it online.
